

Can this backlink building breakthrough really guarantee your site a top 5 Google ranking? 127 web sites 'say' "YES"

The secret is the four variations that Google loves. Proven in markets with 810... 99.... and 11 million competing web pages

Dear Friend,

As you may know, building backlinks to your web site is a time consuming and boring job.

You need to find a high PR site. You got to register on the site. You have to wait for a confirmation email from the site. You then have to log back into the site. And make a link back to your site. It's so time consuming.

In fact, this process can take anywhere from 5 – 10 minutes per site. And worse still, you need to build 20 - 30 high PR backlinks to your site per week. So your site ranks higher in Google.

And, imagine if you've got 10... 20... 50... or 100 web sites. What a nightmare job backlink building is. It's no wonder nobody does enough backlinking. Doing backlinking manually is enough to drive you crazy. Think of building backlinks like this. It's like exercising or going to the gym. We all know we need to exercise but finding the time or forcing ourselves to do the exercise is another matter.

Why you should never outsource your backlink building

Of course, you can outsource your backlink building. Simply go to a site like elance.com and hire somebody to do your backlink building for you. However, hiring "backlink builders" can be a nightmare experience.

First, you need to find somebody who knows how to backlink properly. Your site is not going to get a higher Google ranking if you've got a heap of backlinks to just any web site.

Second, you need somebody who knows the difference between a "Do follow" and "No follow" backlink. You only want backlinks which have a "Do follow".

Third, when your 'backlink builder' does your work, Google sees all these new backlinks to your web site. All of a sudden, you've got, say 200 new backlinks. And all these backlinks originate from the same computer. So Google sees this backlinking isn't natural. And Google could penalize your web site.

Finally, you need somebody who actually does the backlink building work they say they're going to do. I've hired people in the past to build backlinks. And when I've checked up on them, they simply haven't done the work they were supposed to do. Infuriating.

Allow me to introduce myself. My name is xxxx xxxx. I'm an internet marketer. And I've got good news for you.

I got so frustrated with the backlink building process I decided to do something about it. So I developed a backlink building software with a difference.

My software generates backlinks which look natural to high PR sites. So these sites accept your backlink because it looks like a manual submission. Only it's not. It's an automatically generated backlink. I'll explain in greater detail how an automatically generated backlink can look natural in a moment.

But, first

However, I've got a confession to make. When I first developed my software there were some teething problems. Google wouldn't rank my sites highly. Google could see the backlinks being created weren't natural. That's because the backlinks were coming from one computer. My own. However, I got around this problem.

I wondered if I could make the backlinks being built look more natural Google would rank my sites higher. So I introduced more random settings into the software when the backlinks were being built. And once I made these changes...

...BINGO

I was shocked.

All of my sites started ranking highly on Google. But perhaps I'd got lucky. So what I did next was use the software on 127 web sites. The results were amazing. Each web site moved into a top 5 position on Google.

Take a look at the following screen shots of just a few of my web sites. Each web site has had backlinks built by my software. And by the way, just to prove these web sites are mine, I'm including screenshots of proof of ownership.

Ranks #3 in Google with 810 Million competing web pages

The screen shot shows the search results for the keyword phrase "make money from home". My web site is number three in Google. And it's number three out of 810,000,000 competing web sites. Yes that's right. The web site is number three in Google and the number of competing web sites isn't that far short of a billion. Amazing.
